DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Newly submitted claims 18-20 directed to an invention that is independent or distinct from the invention originally claimed for the following reasons: the newly added claims are sup-combination of the originally examined claims. The new added claims have separate utilities such as chamber with a rectangular cross section configured to accommodate a cross section with the diameter of at least 5 mm in at least one place and configured to feed a starch glue.

Since applicant has received an action on the merits for the originally presented invention, this invention has been constructively elected by original presentation for prosecution on the merits. Accordingly, claims 18-20 withdrawn from consideration as being directed to a non-elected invention. See 37 CFR 1.142(b) and MPEP § 821.03.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1, 4-8, and 10-17 the best understood are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Boger et al. (4,687,137).

Boger discloses the claimed invention as the best understood, see for example Figs. 1, 2, and 4; via adhesive champers 107, discharge openings 60, nozzle 20, valves 70, 72, 74, 76, and 80; application head 20; etc.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 2-4, and 9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Boger et al. (4,687,137).

Boger does not disclose the exact claimed chamber diameter of being at least 7, 10, and/or 15 mm nor the volume of the chamber has a ratio of at least 1.5 to “the volume sum” of all the glue connections. However, as Boger discloses the claimed chamber via 107, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have modified Boger’s chamber by making the diameter to be 7, 10, and/or 15 mm and the volume of the chamber has a ratio of at least 1.5 to “the volume sum” of all the glue connections, sine it has been held that discovering an optimum value of a result effective variable involves only routine skill in the art. In re Boesch, 617 F.2d 272, 205 USPQ 215 (CCPA 1980).

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed 02/13/2008 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

In response to applicant's argument that the references fail to show certain features of applicant's invention, it is noted that the features upon which applicant relies (i.e., a bag machine with the use of viscous glue) are not recited in the rejected claim(s). Although the claims are interpreted in light of the specification, limitations from the specification are not read into the claims. See In re Van Geuns, 988 F.2d 1181, 26 USPQ2d 1057 (Fed. Cir. 1993).

Note that the bag apparatus only mentioned on the preamble of the claim, which is not given much patentable weight, while the nature of the glue as being viscous is not mentioned on the examined claims. Further, any glue has some viscosity to it even if it was a melt glue as been disclosed and argued about in the applied reference '137.

The examiner maintains that regardless to the different intention of using the apparatus of the pending invention in compare to the one been disclosed by the applied reference does not make a difference as long as the limitations of the claimed invention been disclosed in the applied art, the use of the machine is nothing more than an indented use.

Applicant further argues that the applied reference '137 did not disclose the claimed glue valves with "diameter of at least 5 mm". The examiner maintains that the applied reference '137; Fig. 2, via discharge openings 60, seems like "at least 5 mm".

Conclusion

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
